

Working Paper 2015/07

List of government department strategies between 1 July 1994 and 30 June 2015

Author: Wendy McGuinness and Madeleine Foreman

1.0 Purpose

The purpose of this working paper is to provide a list of government department strategies (GDSs) published by New Zealand government departments between 1 July 1994 and 30 June 2015 (as per the criteria in Section 3.0 below). This list is presented in Table 1: Government department strategies (GDSs) between 1 July 1994 and 30 June 2015. This list is an update from Working Paper 2014/01: List of government department strategies between 1 July 1994 and 30 June 2014. The methodology of this working paper follows the same process as applied in Working Paper 2014/01.

2.0 Limitations

We have endeavoured to ensure the list of GDSs is as accurate as possible. As our intention is to provide a comprehensive record of the strategy landscape in the public service over the last twenty one years, we welcome feedback on this working paper and the overall project.

3.0 Terminology

In this working paper, a 'government department strategy' (GDS) is defined in terms of four criteria:

A 'government department strategy' must:

1. be a publicly available statement or report;
2. be generated by government departments with a national rather than a local focus;
3. contain long-term thinking, in such a way that the strategy links to a long-term vision or aim, and ideally provide clarity over the factors that may impinge on the attainment of that vision or aim; and
4. guide the department's thinking and operations over the long term (i.e. contain a work programme to achieve change over two years or more).

About the authors:

Wendy McGuinness is Chief Executive of the McGuinness Institute.

Madeleine Foreman is a fifth-year student at Victoria University of Wellington studying towards a BA/LLB.
